THE LAVA BEDS.

The Sacramento Union remarks that Professor Hayden, the United States Geologist, has explored the lava beds in person, and has laid before the President maps and photographs of that region. According to his description:

According to his description:

These beds extend some distance from the point now the object of so much attention and then to the Pacific Ocean. They are covered with sagebrush and small vegetation, and abound in small game, being peculiar in the multitude of small rabbits and lizards—favorite food of the Indian—that take refage in holes and crevices of the rocks. The rock is of a basaltic formation, that appears to have been cast on the bed of some lake, and is cracked in all directions until it forms a network of fissures varing in and is cracked in all directions until it forms a network of fisaures varing in depth from ten to sixty feet. Large numbers of tributaries of the Columbia river flow through this region of country, and the water washes out the soft formation beneath the rock, and great caverns are found extending for many miles around the openings, at various places erns are found extending for many inless around the openings, at various places, into the fisaures in the formation. In one instance a river has been traced some sixty miles beneath this system of lava beds, which is not confined to the locality of the present Modoc war, without ever appearing within sight of the sur-face. Professor Hayden says the sides of the fissures in the rock are generally of the assares in the rock are generally rough and irregular, so as to afford a good foothold in ascending and descend-ing. He also states that water is abun-dant, and it is merely folly to talk of starving out the Modocs.

This shows that the capture of the Modocs is not so easy a matter as some journalistic wiseacres would have it. Nature has given them a stronghold that it is no easy matter to capture with the best of military accompaniments.

POPULATION OF THE GREAT CITIES OF THE WORLD.—The Paris Memorial Dip-lomatique gives the following interesting account of the density of population in the great centres of humanity throughthe great centres of intimanty through-out the globe. There are nine cities having a population exceeding 1,000,000 souls, viz.: London, 3,251,000; Soc-chow, 2,000,000; Paris, 1,825,000; Pekin, 1,648,000; Yedo,1,544,000; Canton, 1,-236,000; Constantinople, 1,075,000; Siau-tan, in the province of Hunan, 1,-000,000, and Takautchean, in the 000,000, and Tehantchaon-foo, in the province of Fokien, 1,000,000. It will be seen that, although London holds the first place, the Chinese Empire can still boast of possessing more populous cities than all the civilized States of the West. The number of cities possessing a popu-lation from above half a million up to a lation from above half a million up to a million is twelve, viz.: New York, Vienna, Berlin, Hang-kaow: Philadelphia, St. Petersburg, Bombay, Calcutta, Fowchow, Tehehing, Bangkok and Kioto. Twenty cities have a population of from 300,000 to 400,000 inhabitants, thirty-three of from 200,000 to 300,000 and ninety of from 100,000 to 200,000 inhabitants. Earope alone possesses 171 cities. tants. Europe atone possesses 171 cities containing more than 50,000 inhabitants, at the head of which stand Loudon, Par-is, Constantinople. Vienna, Berlin and St. Petersburg.

At the celebrated battle of Rivoli, the conflict seemed on the point of being dedeided against him, he saw the critical state of affairs and instantly took his resolution. He dispatched a flag to the Austrians with proposals for an armistice. The unwary Austrians fell into the snare; for a few moments the thunders of the battle, ware hunded. ders of the battle were hushed. Napo-leon seized the precious moments, and while amusing the enemy with mock ne-gotoations; re-arranged his line of battle, changed his front, and, in a few minutes, casaged his front, and, in a few limited, was ready to renounce the force of discussions for the arbitrament of arms. The splendid victory of Rivoil was the result. The great moral victories of the world world are often turned on five minutes. Men loiter, time flies, and all the great interests of life are speeding on with the sure and silent tread of destiny.
